

Climate Change and Biodiversity

Climate change impacts biodiversity across ecosystems. Rising temperatures are causing shifts in species distribution. Coral bleaching is a direct consequence of warmer ocean waters. Conservation efforts must address the root causes of climate change to be effective.